Eggcellent News!

Kenyan farmers success thanks to our sponsors

It is so good to be able to bring good news to the readers of Weston News this month and special thanks to those who responded to our Kenyan 4 Appeal.

Pastor Dickson Mutashe of Nairobi, Mother Hen Foundation Kenya Administrator, tells the heart warming story of our Pilot Poultry Project (PPP) for the Kenyan 4, from top: Dickson, Samwel, Reuben, Francis.

“I love farming and it has been my desire to practice some form of farming despite the fact I stay in the city.

A friend introduces me to MHF and their project is poultry farming. The administrator then has a good plan and he shares with me. I patiently wait for some time and bad news; the project is very expensive and our main targeted donor (big fish) has chickened out.

One day God drops an encouraging word in the heart of momma Hellen. God uses weak things to shame stronger things. Small donors can bring the difference we aspire to see.

In the month of November I am appointed the administrator in charge of the Poultry Pilot Program.

God in his mysterious ways gets us an idea of online training which is able to bring down the initial budget to almost a third. Thanks be to Him who is able to do superabundantly more than all that we ask or think.....

The small donors and Momma Hellen's campaigns amidst all her struggle with health issues pay off, training is done in a week. After one month and three weeks coops are build. After one month feeds and drugs were bought. Oh Praise the Lord!! And after another one month more food and chicken and chicks are bought. Indeed God is good in using small things to shame those that think they are big.

Today I call upon us to share in our Joy as I present to you the now famous Kenyan 4 farmers who are all smiles with their projects flourishing.

Indeed God is good Thank you God, thank you Momma Hellen, thank you every stakeholder, donor, brother and sister here for your prayers.”
